Levente Bodo/Getty Images Choosing the perfect honeymoon is no easy task — countless romantic destinations, endless hotel options, limited vacation time and the challenge of fighting is real to find the perfect place to please both you and your new spouse. Where to start? Well, right here. Whether you're looking for bucket list hotels and resorts, distant beaches, major cruise lines for couples, cheap travel ideas or unexpected honeymoon-worthy locations, you've come to the right place. If the perfect blue water, private garden-green islands, and hours after hours resting in the sun are what you want on your honeymoon, you are looking for an escape from French Polynesia. And there's no better way to explore this South Pacific paradise than aboard a luxury cruise ship like Gauguin, the flagship of Paul Gauguin Cruises. With only 332 passengers, private balconies in more than 70% of suites and cabins, and a crew-guest ratio of 1:1.5 (one of the tallest in the cruise industry), the Gauguin is a small dream. And not to mention the water sports marina aboard the ship, three dining venues, an extensive spa, and friendly staff from local Taitians. Crystal is much more than just an ocean cruise line these days —the China-backed company now offers river cruises, yachts, AirCruises around the world (by adapted Boeing 777 aircraft), private jet charters, and even private residences at sea on upcoming Crystal Business Class ships. But it was the ocean ships Crystal Symphony and Crystal Serenity that launched the brand to such great heights. This will only continue, as both ships saw a multi-million dollar renovation in 2017 and 2018. If for your honeymoon you are looking for a smaller ship without worries — just book a trip on the 62-passenger Crystal Esprit, the Crystal family's first yacht with amenities that include a high-speed contest for water skiing and jet skiing activities, kayaks (to take away), butler service (they'll even unpack your bags upon request), all-inclusive dining (with a bistro and wine bar), unlimited champagne, and a two-person submarine (yes, you read it right — the ship comes with a submarine). Or, try your fleet of river cruises. This ultra luxurious and all-inclusive line has been at the top of the small game for years, thanks to its exclusive itineraries, less crowded call ports, expert tour guides and OTT ships (with first-rate service and a high personal-guest relationship). In December 2016, Seabourn launched its largest ship, Seabourn Encore, the of a new class of ships that are slightly larger than the three existing Odyssey-class ships (Seabourn Odyssey, Seabourn Sojourn and Seabourn Quest, with only 458 passengers). The striking feature Encore, designed by Adam D. Tihany, is not the private balcony in all suites or open-bar services; is The Retreat, a new secluded sanctuary on Deck 12 with a whirlpool, sun loungers and 15 private cabanas, each with a flat-screen TV and fridge stocked with a personalized selection of drinks (from $350 per couple per day). So if you're looking to relax away from the other passengers, all you need to do is make a reservation — although we recommend opting for the unique Spa Treatment Cabana because, well, duh. Each of the top five ships (Silver Wind, Silver Shadow, Silver Whisper, Silver Spirit and Silver Muse) are equipped with suites with water views, restaurant-quality cuisine and a crew-guest ratio of nearly 1:1, sailing to nearly 800 total destinations around the world. Silver Muse only joined the fleet in 2017; the ship hosts only 596 guests in butler accommodations of all suites, perfect for couples looking for a luxurious, intimate and small ship experience. However, those who want itineraries packed with excursions in remote regions —such as the North and South Poles, Southeast Asia, Australia's Kimberley coast, and the Galapagos Islands—only need to look at one of silversea's Expedition-class ships, Silver Explorer, Silver Galpagos, Silver Discoverer, Silver Cloud, or the all-new Silver Origin (specifically designed to sail around the Galapagos Islands). Whether you're looking for a trip across the Caribbean, Mediterranean or transatlantic, seadream yacht club's two twin mega yachts — SeaDream I and SeaDream II — are the ideal ships for celebrities. Days at sea can be spent relaxing in the saltwater pool, while evenings include movies, shown on the upper deck, and a sleep experience under the stars (the crew will create a special bed for you on deck so you can sleep to the sound of the sea). Each ship is equipped with 56 luxurious cabins, including 10 suites, which means you and your new partner basically have the ship to themselves (in fact, you can have it for yourself — the line also offers private charters, perfect for a wedding at sea — just by saying). Itineraries are also all-inclusive, so food, drinks (including alcoholic beverages), water sports and even bonuses are baked at the cost of the cruise. Windstar is one of the newest cruise lines to operate traditional yachts, the latest throwback cruise experience. The three recently renovated sailing yachts (Wind Surf, Wind Spirit and Wind Star) carry 148 or 310 passengers, and cross to 50 nations, with 150 call ports across Europe, the South Pacific, the Caribbean and Central America. Windstar also has yachts powered by star pride, Star Breeze and Star Legend, each with only 212 guests. Food couples will also appreciate Windstar's partnership with the James Beard Foundation, guests with an exclusive lineup of culinary-focused candles that highlight the local cuisine of the destinations you visit, plus on-board culinary demonstrations, regional regional tastings and visits to local markets on land. Regent Seven Seas Cruises The crown jewel of the Regent fleet, the 750-passenger Seven Seas Splendor, has been dubbed the most luxurious ship in the world. What makes you so exaggerated? The fact that each cabin is a suite with its own private balcony, while the common spaces feature built-in marble floors, glass stairs, crystal chandeliers and, oh—the ship hosts the largest suite at sea, complete with its own in-room spa. Seven Seas Splendor joined the other four ships in the line — Seven Seas Navigator, Seven Seas Mariner, Seven Seas Voyager and Seven Seas Explorer — which collectively sail to nearly 350 destinations around the world on all-inclusive travel (including round-trip airfares, excursions at all ports, WiFi in concierge-level rooms and pre-cruise hotel packages in some cases). If you're not on your honeymoon until 2019, you're in luck. That's when Celebrity Cruises is ready to launch Celebrity Edge, the first all-unique and totally insane ship in the new Edge class. Celebrities took advantage of acclaimed architect Tom Wright to design a wide range of spaces on the Deck Resort, which includes the main pool area, a rooftop garden, a race track and solarium. He also fooled the insane Edge Villas duplex with floor-to-ceiling windows and outdoor areas. The Edge Class will be the first new class of ships since the Solstice class debuted in 2008, joining Millennium and xpedition for a fleet of more than 10 high-end ships. Also of note: the line focuses on new culinary programming on every travel, offering experiences like A Movie Flavor, for which guests can sign up for a multi-course meal paired with a popular food-themed movie (think The Hundred-Foot Journey or Julie and Julia), shown on deck under the stars. The line also has an exclusive level of wellness-centric cabins called AquaClass, in which passengers have access to spa and lounge areas 24 hours a day and can dine in their own restaurant. If the idea of being on the high seas makes you sick, good news —AmaWaterways' award-winning river cruises are the waters of Europe, Southeast Asia and Africa. So, if you're looking to fly over Myanmar's Bagan temples by hot-balloon (try the AmaPura), see Budapest's architecture at night (AmaVista), drink vintage in Portugal's Douro Valley (AmaLo), sample Asian delicacies at Cambodia's floating markets and Vietnam's Mekong River (AmaDara), or go on traditional tours in Botswana (Zambezi Queen), AmaWaterways have something for every kind of honeymoon. Oceania Cruises has an exclusive partnership with culinary legend Jacques Pépin. What does this mean for passengers? This means they have a chance to sail with the internationally recognized French chef, television personality, and author in signature trip. If your honeymoon doesn't overlap with Pépin's schedule, don't be afraid, Oceania Cruises' expertly crafted trips call in more than 370,370 across Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, New Zealand, the South Pacific and the Americas aboard the 684-guest Regatta, Insignia, Nautica and Sirena, as well as the 1,250-guest Marina and Riviera. The line focuses on experiencing local culture, so that passengers on new trips to Cuba, for example, can experience the cobbled alleyways of Old Havana, the pastoral landscapes of Cienfuegos and the lively music scene of Santiago de Cuba.
